2. If this is a replacement request, who left the role, where did they go, why did they leave and what efforts were made to retain them?

3. What current positions may be able to absorb the work? Can technology replace or reduce any of the work functions?

4. Is there a different skill set that is needed? (e.g., changing from a paper-based process to an electronic process would require a different skill set)

5. Are there other roles within the organization that perform similar functions?

6. If a full-time position is being requested, could the work process be modified to be reduced to a part-time position?
